2. ANGLESEY FARM FOODS

Four years ago, 56 year-old former midwife, Angharad Holmes moved back to her roots in Anglesey after inheriting the run-down farm that had been in her family since 1806. Today, Angharad has turned the 70-acre Sarn Frait farm into a booming organic business, rearing hens and making jams. Angharad said 'in this niche market people really like to know where their food comes from and how it is farmed'. She launched her brand of jams last August at the Anglesey Show with sell-out results. Her latest product is butter made from Anglesey milk and sea salt.

Adapted from Footprint, Autumn 2009

(a) Suggest which method of production would be most appropriate for Angharad when making her jams. Give reasons for your answer. [4]
