4. There are 62 000 social enterprises in the UK, contributing over £24bn to the economy and employing approximately 800 000 people according to data from the Annual Survey of Small Business UK. Well-known examples of social enterprises include The Big Issue, Jamie Oliver's restaurant Fifteen, The Eden Project and the fair-trade chocolate company, Divine Chocolate.

Social enterprises operate in almost every industry in the UK, from health and social care to renewable energy, from retail to recycling, from employment to sport, from housing to education.

Adapted from www.socialenterprise.org.uk
To what extent are social enterprises different from other types of business?	[8]